BY DANIEL DE LUCE
Potsdam, July 21 (AP)—The big three victory conference reached the end of its first week tonight and American officials expressed satisfaction with progress already made in problems ranging from the interallied rehabilitation of Europe to the destruction of Japanese resistance.

President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin held their fifth, three-hour meeting today and an announcement from the American compound said: "The work of the conference is going ahead and much serious business has been done."

How long the meetings would continue and what agreements had been reached were questions left unanswered, but the brief American statement—the first interim report given by any of the three delegations—reflected President Truman's earnest wish to keep the world informed as much as possible of progress in this suburb of conquered Berlin.

"Desert Rats" Parade
The American delegation reported that the three leaders of the United States, Britain and Russia spent approximately 15 hours this week in direct discussions at the round-table.

They met formally each day, starting Tuesday, while their foreign secretaries—James F. Byrnes, Anthony Eden and Vyacheslav Molotov, began the daily spade work on Monday. Besides their full-dress meetings, the big three entertained among themselves with a series of luncheons and dinners where the international business of peace and war continued unabated.

Churchill, Eden and former Prime Minister Clement Attlee and the highest military commanders of Britain slightly delayed the previous schedules in order to witness a parade in the Tiergarten of the British Seventh armored ("Desert Rats") division.

Germans Cheer
For the achievements of the "Desert Rats" since 1940, the Prime Minister's soldier heart was almost visibly overfilled with emotion. He declared their heroic march from El Alamein across Africa and Europe to Berlin was "unsurpassed in all the story of war so far as my reading of history leads me to believe."

After Churchill took the parade salute from a half-track on the Charlottenburger Chaussee with starred and famous British commanders, Field Marshal Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, at the Prime Minister's request, ordered a holiday for the British fighting men in Berlin who had helped to save the British empire.

On leaving in a car with Montgomery, the British prime minister acknowledged German cheers by raising his fingers in the V-for-victory sign.

The big three kept perfectly in character during the week. Stalin—even to German dwellers near Soviet headquarters in Potsdam—remained unseen and silent.

State Papers Hint
American Backing
For Hitler In 1930

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The story of American financial deals which built up Germany between wars and hints that some American tycoons backed Hitler in 1930 were released by the state department today.

The department, following its usual custom of publishing state papers after 15 years, put out 2,000 pages of documents on American foreign relations in 1930.

The chapter on Germany gives considerable attention to Hitler, then clutched for power. It also shows that American policy worked closely with Wall Street financiers, anxious to float loans of the troubled, unstable Reich.

The American charge d'affaires in Berlin wrote Secretary of State Henry Stimson that he had heard "certain American financial interests" were actively backing Adolf Hitler and his Nazis as a means of combating trends toward Socialism in Germany.

George A. Gordon, the charge d'affaires, also said that "Hitler received very substantial financial support from certain large industrial interests." He judged, however, that their influence on him "has been definitely a restraining one."

It has been widely predicted that German policy following the Reich's recent defeat will be based on pleas for sympathy, combined with efforts to get around anti-aggression controls. The 1930 papers show actual operation of just such stumbling blocks in the path of those who tried once before to destroy German war potential and plans.

Germany was expounding a desire for international peace, but stressing German armed equality with the rest of Europe as an important basis of that peace.

UNION DISPUTES
AFFECT 50,000Production Of Tires And Steel Products Held
Up In Detroit

(By The Associated Press)

Workers in Detroit war plants and in two Ohio cities accounted for more than half of the nation's idle yesterday (Saturday) as the number of striking employees in the country again topped 50,000.

Detroit's work stoppages, affecting 24,600 workers, involved production of tires, steel products, with a heavy total of lumberyard employees also out. The Ohio disputes, which idled about 5,000 workers, affected telephone and transportation services in Warren and Aeronautical Workers in Cincinnati.

New stoppages included 4,500 Wright aeronautical workers at Cincinnati in protest against suspension of three foremen; 4,000 employees of the Joseph E. Seagram and Sons distillery plants in Louisville, Ky.; Baltimore, Md., and Lawrenceburg, Ind., who announced they were "going fishing." While company and union officials negotiated a new contract, and 1,750 workers in the machining division of the International Harvester Company Ft. Wayne, Ind., plant. No reason was given for the latter walkout.

Some 6,000 CIO-United Rubber Workers in the motor city, out since July 14, refused to return despite pleas from the Army and War Departments. Fourteen thousand lumberyard workers, whose walkout forced closing of nearly 200 yards, also were urged to return because lack of wooden crates for the armed forces was becoming critical.

Other continuing strikes in Detroit included Graham-Paige, 2,900 workers; American Metal Products, 500, and Midland Steel employees, 1,200.

Membership Voted
In United Nations
Food Organization

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The senate today voted approval for United States membership in the United Nations Food Organization today, thus forging another bond of international cooperation before it takes up the United Nations charter next week.

The resolution commits this country to contribute $625,000 to the first year's operations of the organization which grew from the international food conference held at Hot Springs, Va., in 1943.

It authorizes a contribution of up to $1,250,000 annually thereafter. Twenty-three other nations, including the United Kingdom and China, already have accepted membership.

The organization's purpose is described as studying ways to improve world nutrition.

Yasuji Okamura, above, supreme commander of Japanese expeditionary forces in China, declared that withdrawal of his troops from there is inadvisable because it would necessitate an armistice with Chungking and United States, according to Radio Tokyo. SHOWERS FAIL
TO HALT BLAZEWind Whips Oregon Fire
Toward Coast; Fighters
Encouraged By Rain

Portland, Ore., July 21 (AP)—Welcome rain was falling today over the blazing 70 square miles of northwest Oregon—but the still unquenched fire continued to roar ahead.

Flames defiant of the drizzle raged before a strong south wind over Roundtop mountain, and approached within two airline miles of the timber town of Cochrane below.

Another blaze on the eastern edge of the flaming area was moving toward the Pacific coast, 20 miles away.

The rain—light in some areas, fairly heavy in others—encouraged the 2000 men who have been vainly fighting the flames for ten days.

In half-evacuated Glenwood, loggers who halted a blaze 1000 feet from their homes looked out at feebly smoldering embers. "It's raining hard here," said one gleefully. "They answered our prayers, I guess."

But meanwhile the Roundtop mountain blaze was also approaching Glenwood. Fire fighting equipment was concentrated on the line and on the west where the Salmonberry fire was rapidly gaining westward.

Spot fires, carried by strong winds, have broken out in so many points that foresters hesitated to guess at the burned acreage.

Hurrying to build new trails while the rain slows flames, fire-fighters agreed that whether the fire stops or spreads over the entire 275,000 acres of the Tillamook burn is up to the weather man.

The weather forecast was inconclusive—predicting showers which might or might not be heavy enough to discourage the wind-fanned flames.

Winona Girl Held
In Fatal Stabbing
Of Boy Friend, 15

Winona, Minn., July 21 (AP)—The case of Theresa Kouka, 16, accused of the fatal stabbing of 15-year old Donald Cada, was referred to juvenile court today when she was arraigned in municipal court on a charge of second degree murder.

There was no announcement as to when the juvenile court would consider the girl's case.

While Theresa was in court, funeral services were being conducted in St. John's Catholic church for the boy who was accused of stabbing 17 times Wednesday night. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

A. J. Bongold, chief of police, said that in a signed statement Theresa had confessed the slaying but maintained she wielded a commando type knife only after Cada had made improper advances.

Stimson To Resign
Says Rankin; Patton
Suggested For Job

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Declaring Henry L. Stimson will resign as secretary of war upon President Truman's return from Potsdam, Representative Rankin (D-Miss.) suggested today that the post go to General George Patton. Rankin described Patton to the house as "one of the most popular men in American uniform," and "a leader of men."

FLEET STRIKE
IS UNOPPOSEDSILENCE INDICATES
NEW NAVAL BLOW
IMMINENT

BY HAMILTON W. FARON
Guam, Sunday, July 22 (AP)—American cruisers and destroyers which bombed the entrance to Tokyo bay Wednesday night and early Thursday morning met no enemy resistance of any sort—either air, surface, shore or submarine, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced today. The force blasted radio, radar and other installations and retired "without incident," he said.

"This force patrolled the eastern entrance of Sagami Gulf (entrance to the outer Tokyo bay) but found no enemy shipping," the communiqué reported.

Enemy Jitters
Nojima Cape, hit by the shelling, is the tip of the gulf's eastern shore line, and lies 55 miles south of Tokyo.

The navy report was the first word of results since last Thursday's communiqué announced the bombardment by ships that included the cruisers Topeka, Oklahoma City, Dayton, and Atlanta and the destroyers Ault and John W. Weeks.

Movements of the powerful battle fleet since have been hidden by radio silence and jittery Tokyo acknowledgment today that a new naval bombardment might be expected at any moment.

Industries Burned Out
Tokyo added that a naval bombardment of other areas of the homeland by mighty battleships that already have wrecked Kaishishi, Muroran on Hokkaido, and the fringe of Tokyo bay is "highly possible."

Japanese broadcasts, meanwhile, are concerned mainly with the American surface bombardments. The enemy radio explained today that there had been no air attacks against the great fleet because the Japanese plan was "to offend the enemy and confuse him." There was no explanation of how lack of opposition might "offend" America.

Returning from roof-top strikes, American fighter pilots today reported earlier Superfort raids had left vital Japanese industrial areas "well burned out."

Tokyo radio unwittingly seconded the Yank reports with the statement that Japan's stock of scrap iron, badly needed for war production, had "increased considerably in the war-damaged areas and we have been able to get all the scrap iron we want and need."

Mustang fighters hit the Nagoya-Osaka area of Honshu Island Friday in two attacks by groups of 80 and 94 planes. The pilots, especially the Superfort destruction at the factory towns of Okazaki and Kamazaki.

Release Of 30,000
Coal Miners From
Army Is Requested

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The senate sent back to its military committee today a resolution asking release of 30,000 coal miners from the army to help relieve the coal shortage. The War Department announced meanwhile that a group of German prisoners would be sent back to Europe to man coal mines there.

Senator Kilgore (D-WVa.), the author, agreed to the senate action after Acting Secretary of War Patterson had written Chairman Thomas (D-Utah) of the military committee protesting that the War Department had not had opportunity to testify on the resolution and was opposed to it.

The committee ordered hearings on Tuesday.

Release of the miners has been asked by Secretary Ickes, solid fuels administrator.

Expansion Program
Announced By Buick

BY DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

Flint, Mich., July 21 (AP)—Buick division of General Motors corporation announced plans today for the largest peacetime expansion program in its history. It is designed to provide for a projected 40 per cent increase in employment opportunity and production capacity for more than 550,000 cars annually.

In announcing the program Harlow H. Curtice, general manager of the Buick division, said its first phase, reconversion to passenger car production, rapidly is being effected. Engineering models of the new cars have been completed, he said, and are now ready for production.

High-Ranking Nazis
Prisoners In Hotel;
Goering Is Shunned

BY GEORGE TUCKER

Mondorf, Luxembourg, July 21 (AP)—One of the great dramas of the postwar era is being played out in the rooms and corridors of the once fashionable Palace hotel where Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz and 49 other high-ranking Nazi officials and Wehrmacht officers are being held pending further disposition by the Allied war crimes commission.

Stripped of their plumage, surrounded by barbed wire and machineguns, they bear little resemblance to the "supermen" who tried to loot the world.

No Glass In Windows
The once impeccable Ribbentrop, who moved through salons of the elite, occupies a bare single room on the fourth floor. When he gazes out his barred window his view is of a guard on a raised platform with mounted machine-gun.

He sleeps on a folding canvas cot with straw mattress. There are no mirrors and no electrical current is provided. When he wishes to shave, one safety-razor blade is issued to him and taken away after it has been used.

All panes have been removed from the windows and replaced with unbreakable substitutes, in keeping with anti-suicide precautions.

Ribbentrop has one extra suit. His room is furnished with a small chair, a toothbrush and an aluminum drinking cup.

Goering, now in the hotel hospital where an effort is being made to lessen his dosage of sedatives, has a larger room across the hall from Ribbentrop. It has identical furnishings except that Goering's chair is larger.

"He is so heavy he broke his other chair," Capt. Biddle said. Goering, who also is suffering from an attack of bronchitis, is being given a gradually reduced diet of paracodeine. When he arrived, said Col. Andrus, he was taking 20 times the normal dosage of the drug.

Atrocities Films Shown
The routine at the Palace hotel is almost identical with that of penitentiaries in the United States, with the exception that the only movies are atrocity films and the only amusements walking in the sunlight and innocent conversation.

Recently Dr. Walther Funk, former president of the Reichsbank, was permitted to lecture his fellow prisoners on the importance of paper currency.

The prisoners remain in their rooms until breakfast at 7:30 a. m. and are free to attend English classes or walk in the yard until noon. Luncheon is at noon and dinner at 6:30 p. m. A typical menu is cereal, soup and coffee for breakfast; pea soup, beef hash and spinach for luncheon; powdered eggs, potatoes, bread and chocolate or tea for dinner.

Goering is reported to be shunned by almost everybody, despite his jolly fat-man bearing and his bowing and scraping.

Ribbentrop mingles equally with the Wehrmacht and the civilian internees. When I saw him the former minister wore a loose-fitting lumberman's shirt, without coat or tie. His greying hair was shaggy. He was waiting with Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring for a turn in the barber shop, where a prisoner of war from a German labor battalion was trimming Nazi locks.

House Starts
Long Vacation

Congressmen Won't Be Back To Work Until
Oct. 8

Washington, July 21 (AP)—House members took off today for their longest vacation since 1938 after a listless final session in which they boosted the pay of a group of legislative employees and discussed the palatability of horse meat.

Barring emergencies which might recall them to work sooner, they won't return to business until October 8, the 11-weeks holiday being the most extended unbroken sabbatical from official work since the six-months vacation of 1938.

During the half-year of work just ended for the house, congress extended the draft law, continued the lend-lease program, boosted the national debt limit to $300,000,000,000, extended the reciprocal trade agreements act, wrote legislation implementing the Bretton Woods international monetary agreement, continued the price control laws, raised the pay of federal and postal employees, and appropriated in the neighborhood of 59,000,000,000 about $1,800,000,000 less last year.

It declined to enact so-called "work or fight" legislation or to order the induction of women nurses for the army and the navy, and side tracked until after the recess action on compulsory peacetime military training and broadening of the social security program.

Targets Get Scarce
For U. S. Submarines
In Japanese Waters

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Because targets are getting scarcer all the time, the navy had to wait for almost three weeks to announce today the latest toll taken by U. S. submarines: 11 more Japanese ships.

Included in this bag were four small combatant craft, two of them minesweepers and two escort vessels. There was one large cargo transport and the rest were small and medium transports, merchant vessels and freighters.

The new haul raised to 1,174 the total of Japanese ships of all types announced as sunk by U. S. submarines. Of these 144 were combatant ships and 1,030 were non-combatants.

The submarine fleet, which now numbers nearly 250 craft, has been a prime factor in choking Japan's water-borne supply lines. It has been officially credited by Secretary Forrestal with "the death of Japan as a maritime power."

NO LICENSE NEEDED

Detroit, July 21 (AP)—Judge John V. Brennan ruled today that Michigan beauty operators do not need a barber license to cut or clip hair when it is incidental to hair styling.

Ruling in a suit of the Cosmetologists of Michigan against the state board of examiners of barbers, the court said cosmetologists must have a barber license when they give a regular hair cut.

PAPER BURNED
AT MANISTIQUETwo Huge Stockpiles Are Destroyed Saturday In Spectacular Blaze

Two great piles of baled corrugated paper were still burning in the yards of the Manistique Pulp and Paper Co. last night after a spectacular afternoon fire which threatened to spread to piles of pulpwood and menaced an electric power feeder line.

The fire was first noticed at 3:45 by a passing motorist and the 30 carloads of paper, making a pile 100 feet long, 20 feet wide and about 20 feet high, was soon a mass of flames. Empty box cars on a track along the piles were moved to safety as firemen turned seven streams of water on the stubborn fire, and pulpwood was shifted with a loading derrick. The absence of wind favored the fire fighters, and last night the fire was under control, although Elmer Boal, fire chief, said it was likely the paper piles would be burning for several days. The cause of the fire was not determined, but it started soon after a paper company switch engine passed through the yards.

R. G. Hentschel, general manager of the paper company, stated that the paper, reclaimed for use in a special product at the Manistique mill, was likely a total loss.

Group Rail Travel
Is Banned By ODT

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation today banned organized group rail travel, such as "all expense tours," effective immediately.

It prohibited the sale of railway tickets or space on trains to travel agencies. Such agencies will not be permitted to reserve, purchase or acquire any rail tickets or space.

ODT defined organized group travel as passenger train travel by any two or more persons traveling together in a group "when such travel has been arranged by a travel agency or by any other person, who for compensation, has made arrangements in advance."

An ODT spokesman said the order would have no effect on travel by athletic teams, that it was only designed to curb travel by organized vacation groups.

Japanese Americans
Returned To Coast

Washington, July 21 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Ickes said today the first complete train carrying Japanese Americans home to California will leave the Reliance (Arkansas) relocation center next Thursday.

Most of the 425 evacuees will make the trip in the train's seven day coaches, Ickes said, adding that ODT rules will limit use of the one tourist sleeper to the aged and sick.

About 125 families, including nearly 100 children under 15, will leave the Arkansas relocation center. Their return to the west coast has been approved by the War Department.

Floating Ice Cream
Parlor Will Serve
Vessels In Pacific

Washington, July 21 (AP)—The navy is planning a "floating ice cream parlor" in the Western Pacific.

A concrete barge actually, the ice cream stand will be equipped to serve ships of the fleet too small to carry their own ice cream making equipment.

Built at a cost of more than $1,000,000, it is capable of manufacturing 10 gallons of ice cream every seven minutes. The storage room has a capacity of 2,000 gallons.

STAND TAKEN
BY STALIN IS NOT DIVULGED

TRUMAN WILL EASE
BLOW TO NIPPON,
TOKYO THINKS

Washington, July 21 (AP)—President Truman is reported to have taken to the Potsdam conference a whole series of recommendations dealing with possible definitions of unconditional surrender for Japan.

A source which normally would be informed said that up to the time the president left Washington, however, there was no single draft of a set of United States surrender terms for Japan. It was also reported positively that any new interpretation of unconditional surrender would have to be acceptable to the Allied governments, and that only within that limitation would American officials make definitions on their own.

Statement Expected

This does not, however, rule out the possibility that the Potsdam conference may result in a statement to the Japanese demanding their surrender.

That was the tack taken by Capt. E. M. Zacharias, U. S. N., described by the Office of War Information as "an official spokesman of the United States government," in a broadcast direct to the Japanese today.

The Japanese-speaking captain advised his audience that unconditional surrender offers "the only way by which you can make possible the salvation of Japan."

The various recommendations which Mr. Truman is reported to have taken with him include memoranda from the state department, army and navy.

These are reliably described as being in agreement on several main principles including: That Japan must be occupied by Allied armies, that Japanese militarism must be uprooted and destroyed, that the capacity of the country to start another war must be ended, and that territories stolen by Japan must be completely liberated.

Russia May Come In

Whether Premier Stalin would join in any statement aimed at persuading the enemy to surrender quickly, or whether he would otherwise cooperate in bringing about a surrender were questions which officials here could not answer. Stalin has been very careful in the past about preserving Russian neutrality despite sharp Moscow criticisms of Japan.

One of the great psychological factors in the drive to force Japanese surrender—in addition to the terrific pounding of the enemy homeland—is the possibility that Russia may enter the war on the Allied side. The Japanese cannot miss the significance of the Potsdam meeting in this respect, whatever the statements issued.

CBS' news commentator, Tom Coffin today said he had learned from "very responsible officials in Washington" that the Big Three would issue a statement from Potsdam within the next few days outlining surrender terms for Japan.

In a radio broadcast, Coffin said the alleged terms would be "far more liberal than the Japanese now enjoy under their present government."

"The Potsdam announcement of Japan will promise the Japanese freedom of religion, and the right to choose whatever form of government they want," Coffin said.

May Order Reappraisal Despite Adverse Opinion

Supervisor O. J. Thorsen of Wells, chairman of the Delta county board of supervisors, yesterday expressed his willingness to sign a contract for a reappraisal of taxable properties in the county despite an opinion of the Michigan attorney general that the county board does not have legal authority to hire the work done.

Chairman Thorsen said that he will sign the contract for the county if the J. M. Clemminshaw company, Cleveland appraisal firm, will include a clause absolving him of personal responsibility for payment of the cost of the work should the county be enjoined from appropriating funds to pay for it.

E. T. Wilkins, representative of the Clemminshaw company, yesterday at a meeting at the courthouse in Escanaba, said that J. M. Clemminshaw, head of the company, would be in Escanaba Monday. At that time Chairman Thorsen will consult with him on the proposed contract clause.

Majority Want It

"I have talked with the majority of the supervisors on the board and they told me they still wanted the reappraisal, and they believe the county should go ahead despite the attorney general's opinion," Chairman Thorsen said.

The attorney general, in response to an inquiry by Prosecutor Torval E. Strom, has ruled that the county board has no legal authority to hire appraisers to make a reappraisal of all taxable property in the county for equalization purposes. The Delta county board in meeting June 25 had authorized the chairman to enter into a contract for such work.

Attending the meeting yesterday at the courthouse were Chairman Thorsen, Prosecutor Strom, Supervisor Sam Wickman, mayor of Escanaba, and Gladstone City Manager H. J. Hendrickson.

Escanaba has had a reappraisal completed by the Clemminshaw company, and Gladstone soon will sign a contract for work there. The contract proposed between the county and the company would be for the reappraisal of property in the county's 14 townships.

Injunction Talk

Prosecutor Strom outlined to the meeting the reasons for his request for an opinion from the attorney general. He said that in the closing days of the recent circuit court term in Delta county he and Circuit Judge Frank A. Bell were in the office of the county clerk.

The prosecutor said that Atty. William Miller, probate judge, entered and told him and Judge Bell that "there is a great deal of grumbling" over the proposed reappraisal, and that certain county interests "contemplated an injunction." This led to a discussion of the subject and a question from Judge Bell whether Prose-

He is living with his wife and 16-months-old son on North Eighteenth street. At the end of his furlough, he will go to Camp Grant for reassignment. DeGrand was employed at the Birds Eye plant before the war.

RAILROADS WIN SAFETY AWARDS

Three Lines in Michigan Are Accorded Recognition

Lansing—For the first time in history three railroads with headquarters in one state, in this instance, Michigan, have simultaneously been acclaimed the nation's safest railroads.

The lines are the Michigan Central, Ann Arbor and Lake Superior & Ishpeming. They have just been awarded, respectively, the gold, silver and bronze medals in the 26th annual award of the E. H. Harriman Memorial for passenger and employee safety on American railroads.

The Michigan Central lead all railroads in 1944 in Group A, by carrying 5,558,933 passengers more than one billion miles with no fatalities and only 10 injuries during the year. Records show the line has had no passenger fatalities in any of the past 10 years and passenger injuries during the period have averaged less than 10. The road's record for employee safety shows 6 fatalities and 182 injuries among employees in 1944 during 40,598,000 man-hours of work, or a rate of one employee fatality per 2700 years of work and one injury per 100 years of work. The Michigan Central last month received the American Safety Council plaque for the best employee safety record among U. S. lines with 50 million man-hours of work in 1944.

The Ann Arbor received the silver medal for no fatalities or injuries among its 80,000 passengers traveling 6,293,000 passenger-miles in 1944, and no fatalities and only 15 injuries among its employees who totaled 2,702,000 man-hours of work during the year. The Ann Arbor is credited with never having a passenger fatality in its history and is the four-time winner of the Harriman medal for its group in the last 10 years.

JAMES BOYLE DIES SDDENLY

Was Employed With Soo Line In Gladstone For Many Years

James Boyle, 76, retired Soo Line railway switchman, died suddenly at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Axel Anderson, 217 South 16th street, 8:20 o'clock yesterday morning.

Mr. Boyle was born in Hoken-dauqua, Pa., Jan. 1, 1869. He came to Escanaba in 1888 and moved to Gladstone in 1897, taking employment with the Soo Line where he was employed continuously until he retired in May, 1934. He moved to Escanaba five years ago.

Mr. Boyle is survived by four daughters and one son, Mildred, Mrs. Axel Anderson, Mrs. Donald Brunell, Escanaba; Mrs. George Kevelin, Minneapolis, and James F. Boyle, Detroit; one sister, Mrs. Reeve Perrot, Escanaba, and nine grandchildren. His wife died in June, 1941.

The body will lie in state at the Allo funeral home, beginning this evening. Funeral services will be held at St. Patrick's church nine o'clock Tuesday morning, with Rev. Fr. Norbert Freiburger officiating. Burial will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Hospital

Mrs. Arthur Lund, 1005 Lake Shore Drive, is a surgical patient at St. Francis hospital.

Word has been received here that the condition of Mrs. Stanley Steinsultz, the former Leatrice Olson of Escanaba, is somewhat improved at the University hospital at Ann Arbor.

America Is Generous

THE decision to send 6,000,000 tons of bituminous coal to Europe from this country at a time when our own fuel problem is growing increasingly acute and when we still are up to our necks in an all-out war program against the Japanese constitutes an act of generosity that indelibly portrays the sincerity of the American people to help the war-torn peoples of Europe reestablish themselves after years of untold suffering under the heels of Nazi militarism.

The diversion of this quantity of coal from the United States at this time will represent a considerable sacrifice to the American people, who have already been notified that coal allocations for the ensuing winter will be no more than 80 per cent of normal.

This initial shipment of fuel undoubtedly will be a great help in launching the European countries back on the road to rehabilitation, but it is apparent that the United States cannot continue to meet the fuel needs of Europe without affecting our own war effort against the Japanese. Every effort must be made immediately to get the coal fields of Europe producing at maximum efficiency and to reestablish the transportation facilities on that continent so that the fuel can be transported where it is vitally needed.

Up to now we have carried the ball against the Japs virtually alone, with almost no assistance from our European allies. This is understandable because the European nations were busily engaged trying to get the Nazi heel off their necks. The time has come, however, when our allies can and should redeem their pledges of help in the war in the Pacific.

Aside from the moral obligations that our European allies must certainly feel to us for their liberation from German oppressors, there remains the irrefutable fact that the sooner Japan is knocked out of the war, the sooner the industrial and agricultural might of the United States can be turned to greater assistance in helping to rehabilitate the war-wrecked countries of Europe.

It is to be hoped that the American shipments of food, clothing and fuel to Europe, commodities that are scarce in this country and transported on vessels that are badly needed for the war effort in the Pacific, are predicated upon agreements that will send our European allies to our side in the battlefields of the Pacific.

Forest Saboteurs

TWO items in Saturday's issue of the Press again emphasized the need for the exercise of extreme caution in the use of cigarettes, campfires and other firebrands in the Upper Peninsula forests during the current season.

An Associated Press dispatch from Portland, Ore., reported that a forest fire had already enveloped 275,000 acres of timberland in Oregon and had endangered a number of small communities. The blaze had gained so much headway that foresters were praying for heavy rains as the only hope of curbing its destructiveness.

Another news article, also datelined Portland, Ore., told of the many promising scientific developments in the utilization of wood. The forest products industry is producing boards that will not warp or crack; chemicals are made as hard as ebony by chemical treatment; sugar, alcohol and rubber can be produced from softwoods; cellulose plastics are being developed for an increased number of purposes; and scientists are delving into the mysteries of lignin to create new products that will elevate wood to top rank among the nation's natural resources.

Our experience of this war proves that the prosperity and security of this nation depend upon an adequate supply of timber. The Japanese recognized this fact when they tried to ignite the forests of the Pacific coast by sending incendiary bomb balloons across the ocean.

The Japs failed in their sabotage attempts, but unfortunately we have saboteurs at home. They are the careless American people who do not take the necessary precautions when they use the forests for either their enjoyment or livelihood.

Lake Superior Highway

OTTAWA has announced that as a matter of good faith, and in line with campaign promises made before the recent election, Dominion and Ontario road departments will do their best to see that the job of completing a highway around Lake Superior will be undertaken not later than next spring. This has been confirmed by representatives of the Canadian government recently in the peninsula.

The project will cost a lot of money, something over 50 million dollars, it is estimated, but it is sure to be a wise investment. Something over three-quarters of the distance, which will total more than 1,100 miles, is already open for travel, and more than half of it is hard-surfaced.

The recent international highway conference in Fort William and Port Arthur attention on the necessity for completing

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

If President Truman is in earnest in his expressed desire to take politics out of our foreign policy, then he should go the whole way and apply the non-partisan principle to the state department, where our foreign policy takes form. He has a perfect opportunity to do just that by appointing a distinguished Republican internationalist as undersecretary of state to work with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, who will take over the controls of the department when he returns from the conference of the Big Three.

Childs

This interesting suggestion comes from Roscoe Drummond in the Christian Science Monitor. It deserves serious consideration since, obviously, if foreign policy is to be non-political in the partisan sense, then our chief instrument for dealing with the nations of the world should not be in the sole charge of the party that happens to be in power.

—ARMSTRONG RECOMMENDED—
Drummond goes on to propose two nominees for Undersecretary—Hamilton Fish Armstrong and John Foster Dulles. Both these men, as the Monitor correspondent points out, did yeoman service at San Francisco in helping to frame the world charter now before the senate. They are both experts. Armstrong in particular has made foreign affairs his life work. As an editor and adviser, he has been close to the sweep of world affairs during the past 25 years. If given reasonable independence of action, he would do an excellent job of reorganizing the state department.

At first glance, this proposal would seem contrary to deep-seated American tradition. But it is simply one more step—the ultimate step—in the direction in which we have been moving for the past 25 years. The goal has been to put foreign policy in the hands of technicians free from narrow political predilections.

Of course, it hasn't always worked that way. Sometimes the technicians have been circumscribed by prejudices brought out of their background. They have seen the world from behind blinders that cut their field of vision down to one little group or class.

Because we are so close to it, we hardly realize the extent to which partisanship has already been curbed. If Governor Dewey had been elected president, his secretary of state in all probability would have been Dulles. The campaign last fall was excessively bitter, yet since then Dulles has been an active collaborator in our foreign policy, having been called in first by Cordell Hull.

The U. S. delegation to San Francisco was similarly bipartisan. Senator Vandenberg, Commander Stassen and Representative Eaton are all loyal Republicans, but that did not prevent them from working just as hard as the Democrats in the delegation in behalf of the charter.

—PARALLEL WITH BRITAIN—
The parallel with Britain at this point is interesting. The British have just come through a bitter election campaign, with both sides, especially Prime Minister Churchill and his conservatives, saying some very hot-tempered things that had little to do with the issues. Nevertheless Churchill invited his chief rival, Clement Attlee, to go with him to Berlin.

The result of the election will be made known on July 26. The best guessers think Churchill will have such a slim majority that the few liberals in the House of Commons may actually hold the balance of power. Labor, however, might have the lead, in which case Attlee would become Prime Minister. Therefore it is of the utmost importance that he know first-hand what happens at Potsdam.

President Truman and the Democrats will be responsible for our foreign policy for the next three and a half years. Even though that is true, isn't it possible the President would have gained if he had taken on a prominent Republican—say Senator Vandenberg—with him to this meeting? For one thing, the conference would have had slightly less of the look of a secret board of directors meeting.

Responsibility for the course of our foreign policy must, of course, rest with the man in the White House. Naming a Republican to a high office in the state department would not alter that, but it would insure a continuity we have lacked in the past.

Republicans, almost without exception, have declared for non-partisanship in the foreign field. Here is a chance for President Truman to take a step that would bring nearer to reality the good intentions of all our party leaders.

Answer: Either is correct. Edible, however, is used oftener.
Wilmington: We have named our baby girl PENLOPE. Please give the meaning and pronunciation.—Mrs. S. H.

Answer: It means "a weaver." Pronounce it: pee-NELL-oh-pee.

Ogden: Please distinguish between "character" and "reputation."—D. M.
Answer: Character refers to one's moral standards. Reputation refers to the esteem or lack of esteem in which one is held by one's fellows. Thus, a man of high character may be placed in a wrong light and come to have an evil reputation, and vice versa.

Okla. City: Am I sick at or to my stomach?—J. T. M.
Answer: "Sick to..." is dialectal. Better say: I am sick at my stomach. Or: I am nauseated.

Newport: Please distinguish between oculist, optician, and optometrist.—W. T.
Answer: An oculist is a physician who specializes in the treatment of defects and diseases of the eye.

An optician is not a "doctor." He makes or deals in glasses and optical instruments. An optometrist, pronounced op-TOM-estrist, examines the eyes by means of instruments, charts, etc., and prescribes glasses. He does not prescribe medicine, perform surgery, or otherwise "treat" the eyes.

Is This Trip Necessary?

Good Morning!

—By The Bugler—

COLD BATH—Big Spring near Manistique is a natural wonder that has attracted visits from thousands of tourists. It has also become somewhat of a legend, due to the publicity efforts of John I. Bellaire of Manistique. Mr. Bellaire has spun many a yarn about the spring for public consumption, but perhaps he is not responsible for the assertion that the water in the Big Spring "is so cold not even a frog can live in it."

Dunathan

Never having seen a frog in the spring on visits there, The Bugler cannot say whether this assertion is true, one way or another.

But the water is cold, as Jo-Jo, the tender dog owned by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fleugal of Milwaukee would tell you if you could understand dog talk. For Jo-Jo has tried swimming in it.

The Fleugals, who are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Leduc of State Road, Escanaba, went to the Big Spring on a sight-seeing trip last Tuesday. There they left Jo-Jo in the car and boarded the raft for a trip out and back on the crystal waters of the spring.

While they were on the raft Jo-Jo grew tired of staying in the car, jumped out through an open window, ran to the edge of the Big Spring and plunged in. The Leducs, having heard the stories of the coldness of the water, expected to see the dog get a cramp at least. He continued to swim strongly, however, reached the raft, was helped aboard and shook himself furiously. He was none the worse for his experience.

DE-SKUNKIZER — Speaking of legends, there is one legend that may be discredited with the advance of science.

It is the legend that your clothes can only be decontaminated of skunk odor by burying them in the ground. Now a new neutralizing liquid has been formulated. Armed with a spray gun filled with this neutralizer called mercaptan, a person can spray himself, his clothing and even his dog and overcome the aroma of skunk.

POTATO PUBLICITY — The August issue of The Rotarian, monthly magazine published by Rotary International, has a feature article of interest to all Delta county residents. It is titled "Futures in Spuds" and has a picture of Emil DeBacker, St. Nicholas farmer, and H. J. Gramlich, North Western railroad agricultural agent. Gramlich holds one of the prize winning potatoes from DeBacker's farm.

The article follows:
For versatility, crown the potato! You can bake, boil, fry or mash it... chip, shoestring, rice or hash it. You can reduce it to alcohol, starch or flour, or dignify it on menus as pomme de terre. But that isn't all.

In this staunch old vegetable, which has crept around the world from its native soil in the South American Andes, there may lie the promise of independence for many a man back from the war.

22,000 BUSHELS—Members of the Rotary Club of Chicago saw a sign of that promise at a recent article study at a recent meeting. To their nostrum stepped a soldier of World War I—a Belgian who, finding the old home farm in Flanders devastated by war, had migrated to America and to Michigan. There in Delta counties he had started afresh, cutting timber to save money, saving money to buy a farm. By hand-stripping, Emil DeBacker—that's his name—won that farm, made it one of the finest in the area. But

10 Years Ago—1935

A delightful outdoor afternoon bridge party was held Monday at the Highland Golf club. Fifteen tables were in play during the afternoon. Mrs. Harold Meiers held high auction score, Mrs. Roy Nerbonne, second high, and Mrs. L. A. Stade was third. Mrs. J. G. Moersch was high in five hundred. Mrs. Ernest Desilets was chairman of the party, assisted by Misses Irene Anderson, Leone Leduc, Marie Greis and Elizabeth Paquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Auger and little daughter Rita, of Schaffer are leaving Sunday morning for an extended trip through Canada. The trip is a gift of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Maciejewski, their son-in-law and daughter, whose marriage took place on July 17, the thirtieth wedding anniversary of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Maciejewski, who are in the peninsula on their wedding trip, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Auger of Schaffer are accompanying them as far as theault.

20 Years Ago—1925
Odense, Denmark, one of their main powers, was practically destroyed by fire yesterday and several ships that were in the harbor were badly damaged. Fire fighters from several surrounding towns have joined in the efforts to halt the spread of the flames.

Charles E. Lewis was elected president of the Delta County Bar association at the lawyers' annual business session held this week. W. J. Miller of Rapid River was elected vice president. George W. Carr, secretary, and S. M. Matthews, treasurer.

Miss Margaret Patton is spending her annual vacation this year visiting with friends and relatives in Menominee, Marinette, Fond du Lac and Milwaukee.

What helped him greatly on his steep climb to prosperity was the lowly, homely, ubiquitous "spud."

Delta county has always been good potato land—but some years ago Escanaba Rotarians and the Escanaba Potato Boosters Association—in which Rotarians play a significant part—began encouraging farmers toward a goal of more and better potatoes. The suggestion "took" with Emil DeBacker, and, last year, on a ten-acre potato patch he set a production record of 715 bushels per acre! On each acre he grossed about $1,000. From 40 acres of potatoes he took 22,000 bushels—an average of 550 bushels per acre. That, plus the fact that he won first prize in a certified seed-growing contest, sets him up as the Potato King of Michigan.

BUSY NOW — DeBacker isn't alone; seven of his neighbors won 500-bushel yields. Twenty-seven harvested more than 300 bushels apiece—which, before farmers and businessmen got together, was a bumper crop.

But no potato man, least of all Michigan's "spud" champion, claims potato growing a soft snap. Telling Chicago Rotarians how he plowed, disc, harrowed, manured, and (ten times) sprayed his crop, and how he also milks 40 head of cows, DeBacker concluded, "I do not seem to get to town very often."

Still, he gave quick assent when Rotarian H. J. Gramlich, the railroad agricultural agent who interviewed him before the Club, asked, "Well, Emil, do you think men coming home from World War II can find a future in potatoes just as you did?"

"Sure thing," DeBacker replied. "A soldier knows what it is to want something very much. And a fair living, he can find it in potatoes."

Meanwhile Emil DeBacker is going out after 800 bushels per acre. And no one says he'll never make it.

—Clint Dunathan.

The Lyons Den

By Leonard Lyons

LONDON: Some British officials who attended the last meeting of the Big Three at Yalta were reminiscing last night about the exchanges between Churchill and Roosevelt. At one session Churchill quoted at length from Gibbons' "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." "Oh you, with your fancy education," Roosevelt interrupted. "You're just showing off, just because you studied hard at school and I didn't." "Did you say 'studied hard'?" Churchill gasped. "My dear Mr. President, at school I was last in my class."

On the last day of the Yalta Conference Roosevelt told the photographers that he would pose for as many shots as they wanted, on one condition: "Just tell me how many shots you want." "Three, Mr. President," they insisted. "Only three," The President nodded and said: "Okay. Three. I don't mind posing, but what I do mind is that 'One more shot. Just one more, please.'"

Lt. Robert Hopkins, who photographed all the conferences, has been overseas for three years. Before he left I gave him a note to Hannen Swaffer, the London, columnist who once took me to 8 cafes and 4 theatres in one night. When Hopkins arrived and presented himself, Swaffer took him to a lecture given by the Archbishop of Canterbury. "Now you can report to your father and Mr. Lyons," said Swaffer, "that I led you to the path of righteousness and not to sin."

A California scientist who now wears a general's stars on his uniform went to Aachen to discuss some matters with a group of Nazi scientists there. They vowed that all their formulae had been burned by them to keep the Russians from obtaining these scientific secrets. "If you do not produce these formulae," the scientist-general told them, "we will turn you over to the Russians." The Nazis produced the formulae they had "burned."

Political experts on the Orient prophesy that Russia will be ceded a piece of China, and that France will relinquish Indo-China. . . . An R.A.F. pilot, in describing the speed with which his plane can ascend, said: "My Spitfire goes straight up, like a homesick angel." . . . Lady Mountbatten, wife of Lord Louis Mountbatten, and George Arliss, the distinguished actor, are contributing scholarships at the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art, as part of the Kinsmen Trust which will be developed into something resembling the Rhodes scholarships. The Kinsmen Trust has been founded as an expression of Britain's gratitude for American hospitality and that of the Commonwealth, for receiving and caring for British children who were evacuated during the war. These trusts will provide scholarships and grants for U. S. citizens and those of the British Commonwealth, particularly to friends and relatives of the people who cared for these British children. The trusts will offer not only academic education in England but also vocational apprenticeships. The students, both boys and girls, may live with a British family during their studies, and will learn such trades as publishing, paper-making, ship-building, etc.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington—Congressmen who have sat in the closed-door sessions of the ways and means committee listening to testimony regarding Elliott Roosevelt now have counted up a total of approximately $850,000 which he borrowed over a period of about eight years. Most of this he did not pay back.

During one of these closed sessions, congressmen thought they ran across the clue as to why Jesse Jones was always so confident he would not be fired by Franklin Roosevelt. In his battle with Henry Wallace over the board of economic warfare, and during the anti-Roosevelt operations of his nephew in Texas, Jesse always seemed cocksure that his political future was absolutely safe.

What the committee heard was the testimony of Deputy Internal Revenue Commissioner Norman Cann to the effect that Jesse Jones apparently had never collected from Elliott Roosevelt for the $4,000 paid to settle the $200,000 loan from John Hartford, head of the A and P chain stores. Cann testified that internal revenue agents who interviewed Jesse Jones understood that Jesse had paid the $4,000 out of his own pocket.

At this point in the testimony, one member of the committee remarked: "Good for Elliott! That's the first time I ever heard of Jesse getting trimmed."

—SENATOR'S DINNER CHECK—

A 20-minute argument over a $120 dinner check has crossed the ocean to haunt three U. S. Senators—Russell of Georgia, Maybank of South Carolina, and McClellan of Arkansas—all Democrats. The senators had their misunderstanding in the basement of Grosvenor House, in London, where the U. S. army has installed a mess hall for military personnel.

In this huge cafeteria, known affectionately as Willow Row because of the assembly-line technique of piling the plate with food, breakfast is 20 cents, lunch 25 cents and dinner 30 cents. Comparable dinners elsewhere in London would be three or five dollars, and Willow Row customers say the dinners served there are as good as two-dollar dinners in Washington or New York.

Senators Russell, Maybank and McClellan were dining one night with a naval officer on the small balcony of the mess hall reserved for high-ranking officers. Prices are the same, but waitress service is provided.

As they finished, the English waitress presented a check for the four meals. Russell refused the check, telling the girl that his party included United States senators dining as guests of the U. S. army.

"But we have no instructions, sir," the girl replied. Finally she signaled for her superior. Her superior, another English girl, also had no instructions, finally called the sergeant in charge of the mess hall.

The mess sergeant came up blushing, and insisted that he, too, had no instructions.

"I serve so many meals, I get paid for so many meals," he said. "That's the only way I can operate."

But Senator Russell, a member of the Military Affairs Committee, was adamant. "We are guests of the United States Army," he insisted, "and I'm sure you will find if you look into it that our checks have already been arranged for."

Maybank and McClellan, both outranked by Russell in length of service in the Senate, continued to sit in embarrassed silence while the mess sergeant, muttering under his breath, went away to get his superior officer, a first lieutenant. At this point, South Carolina's Maybank started to say something to Russell, but thought better of it when he saw how determined the Georgian was to see the thing through.

Finally the lieutenant, embarrassed at having to argue with members of the Senate, came up and informed Russell that no arrangements had been made for the Senators' meal. "But," he continued, "Since I'm certain some mistake has been made, I'll be glad to pay the check myself and let the army reimburse me later."

Russell backed down at this point, paid the check, and the senatorial party left.

—TRUMAN GETS SORE—

Shortly before he left for Europe, President Truman was informed of what the Army-Navy were doing and became so incensed that he slipped three of his friends into key spots in the war department. They have orders to watch for any waste in procurement or graft, and report directly to the White House.

Truman has also advised his old senate colleagues to cut loose at the services on waste. However, both Truman and the men who worked with him on the old Truman committee know there's only one way to stop waste in the army—that's by a real crackdown on the men responsible. Unfortunately, however, no one above the rank of captain ever gets reprimanded for home front errors even if they're exposed by outfits like the Truman committee.

Senator complain that every time they prove an officer guilty of error, the army promotes him one or two grades within 60 days.

Meanwhile the tremendous waste of both material and manpower continues.

OFFICERS WILL PATROL CIRCUS

Watch Will Be Kept For Any Law Violations, Says Prosecutor

Prosecuting Attorney Torval E. Strom yesterday said that he had advised Escanaba Police Chief Michael Eitenhofer to confer with sheriff's officers and state police for the policing of the circus which is to show in Escanaba Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Yesterday copies of material allegedly charging the circus with operating gambling devices, overcharging and other practices were received by the prosecutor, the sheriff, the police chief and the Daily Press.

It was reported from Marinette that Andrew Jackson Clark, circus advance man, said the show had been involved in a circus war on the West Coast and its competition had forwarded complaints to city officials in towns where the circus is scheduled to appear.

Prosecutor Strom said here yesterday that plain clothes officers as well as officers in uniform would be on the circus grounds, and that circus officials would be warned they must abide by state and city laws.

Plan Complete Tree Pruning This Year

City Forester Robert Clayton yesterday said that the city street tree pruning program begun last year and resumed this spring is expected to be completed on all streets in Escanaba by the end of this summer.

Only complete pruning is being done this summer. The crew will come back to certain areas where dead limbs must be removed or other corrective work done on some trees.

The forestry department crew of six men is able to complete as much as 12 blocks a day on clear-cut pruning, Clayton said. In pruning the trees for clearance, branches are trimmed to an average height of nine feet so they will not interfere with pedestrian or car traffic.

Canaries Cheer Prison Trusties On Mackinac Id.

From state capitols across the country a pretty tale is spreading, fresh from Lake Michigan's blue waters.

Day before the Governors' Conference opened on Mackinac Island, four canaries turned up by express at the park commissioner's home. Mystified, the commissioner's wife protested—they must be for the hotel where the governors would meet. Just then a convict stepped around the corner and claimed the birds. He was one of four trusties, up from Michigan's state pen at Jackson to clean the island for the conference.

"They're my birds," he confessed. "These babies are lots of company for us at the pen. When we found we'd be here awhile I had 'em shipped to the commissioner's address—afraid they'd be neglected. They're the best friends we have."

Off he shuffled, whispering happy greetings through the cage wires to the fluttering birds.

Soil Conservation Will Be Discussed At Kiwanis Meeting

"Soil Conservation" will be the theme of the meeting of the Kiwanis club at the Sherman hotel Monday noon.

H. R. Heathman of the Soil Conservation Service and E. A. Wenner, Delta county agricultural agent, will talk on agricultural problems, and M. R. Cook of Green Bay, Wis., will show a movie, depicting the soil conservation program. Fred Johnson is program chairman for Monday's meeting.

Members of the Kiwanis club have invited Delta county farmers to attend as their guests.

Downy Woodpecker Trapped For 8th Year At McMillan

By OSCAR MCKINLEY BRYENS McMillan, Mich.—I began banding birds in the year 1924. One of the reasons that I entered this method of bird study, is to get an idea of the ages of birds. I first trapped and banded a downy woodpecker in winter of 1927-28. Up to this date, July 15, 1945, I have banded thirty-six of these birds. Of these, a male that I banded on January 26, 1938 holds the record of being the oldest of these birds, so far as I am able to determine. This bird was given band number 37-53529. It may be that one or more of the other downy woodpeckers that I have banded lived longer than this bird, but I have no way of proving that any did, as yet.

I have retrapped this bird on the following dates: Jan. 27, Feb. 19, Oct. 13, and Dec. 2, 1938; Mar. 2, May 16 and Oct. 11, 1939; April 1, 8 and May 25, 1940; Jan. 26, Feb. 23 and March 5, 1941; March 4, 1942; March 8 and July 30, 1943; March 20, 1944; and June 10, 1945. All of these woodpeckers that I have banded, has been banded in Luce County, Michigan and most of these at my station near McMillan in this county. As I have seen young of this species out of nest as early as the last week in June or first week in July, it may be judged that this bird may have reached its 8th year at least, by the date last taken.

Many bird lovers may have seen birds of this species in every month of the year, and may have wondered if the individuals that they found in winter are the same birds that they observed in summer. Judging by the dates that I have trapped this bird, we can feel safe in saying that at least some are. Of the years that I have observed birds in this county, I have found the downy woodpecker very scarce in a few winters, which may indicate that those that frequented the territory in summer, may have gone to some other location for winter. In this change in place of winter territory, it remains a question whether they went southward, or if they moved into some better sheltered piece of woodland, near its summer home.

In trapping birds, it has been my method to keep each trap at the same place all the time. This downy woodpecker has been captured in six different traps. It has been captured once in a funnel type trap; two times in one 1-cell trap; two times in another, and once in one other 1-cell trap; two times in a 4-cell trap, but not in the same cell each time; 11 times in a 2-cell trap and in this, it has been trapped in one cell 6 times and 5 times in the other cell.

This bird was in the moulting stage when taken on July 30, 1943.

Only two naval officers have ever held seats in the U. S. Senate: Commo. Robert F. Stockton of New Jersey and Adm. Thomas C. Hart of Connecticut.

CITES MOTOR LAW CHANGES

Sgt. Wixom Points To Amendments To Vehicle Rules

Some changes in motor vehicle legislation which were adopted at the last session of the legislature are brought to the attention of the public by Sgt. Willard W. Wixom, commander of the Gladstone Post, Michigan State Police.

Act 91 is amended to provide that any person who has been denied a license or whose license has been suspended has the right to file a petition for a hearing on the matter in circuit court in the county from which came the recommendation upon which the license was denied, suspended or revoked, OR IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE COUNTY OF RESIDENCE IN THOSE CASES WHERE THE LICENSE WAS SUSPENDED OR REVOKED IN ANOTHER STATE. In other words if a man's license was suspended in Ohio he could petition the circuit court of his Michigan home county for a hearing.

Passing of school buses is banned, Sgt. Wixom pointed out, Act 318 being amended to provide that the driver of a vehicle shall not overtake or pass any school bus proceeding in the same direction which has stopped for the purpose of receiving or discharging passengers, but must come to a full stop at least ten feet in the rear of such school bus and remain stopped until the school bus is again in motion. The only exception is at intersections controlled by an officer or a stop and go signal, at such intersections a vehicle may proceed past a school bus at a speed no greater than 10 miles per hour and with due caution for the safety of the passengers being received or discharged from the bus. School buses must be plainly marked as such.

Civilian employees of the army, navy or marine corps must have an operator's or chauffeur's license of this or his home state to operate a motor vehicle in Michigan. Regularly enlisted servicemen are exempt in the operation of government vehicles.

Another amendment to Act 91 states the License Appeal Board shall have the power and authority to set aside any revocation or suspension by the department upon the recommendation of the state police of an operator's or chauffeur's license.

A fifth and important amendment to this act extends the expiration date of the operator's and chauffeur's license of any persons in the service of the army, navy or marine corps (except civilians) until 30 days after discharge, providing the license of such persons was valid as to expiration date at the time of induction. The amendment eliminates the necessity for a serviceman on furlough to obtain a new license if his old one had expired since he entered the service.

25 CHICKENS ARE STOLEN

State Police Investigate Stonington Farm Theft

Michigan state police from the Gladstone post are investigating the theft of about 25 chickens from the McArthur farm on the Stonington Peninsula.

The theft is believed to have occurred about the middle of the past week.

About 75 partly grown chickens were confined to the coop when the family left their farm Tuesday afternoon and when they returned on Thursday evening there were only about 50 of the fowl left.

Clues with which the officers have to work are very meager, it was indicated.

Young Leader
While the rock bass fishing in the Escanaba yacht harbor has not been as good as it was last summer, it has been improving in recent weeks and if you ask Bobby Peterson, he'll tell you it is wonderful. Bobby's efforts on Wednesday evening brought him the present leader in the rock bass class in the Daily Press Fishing Contest.

Eight-year-old Bobby used a minnow for bait and the largest fish he landed was 10 and 1/8 inches long, 8 and 7/16 inches in girth and weighed 12 ounces. Backing it up was a second large rock bass just about a quarter of an inch less in length.

In his love of fishing Bobby is following in the footsteps of his father Harold Peterson, 221 S. 17th street, Escanaba, one of the more persistent trout anglers. In company with Harold Winchester, Peterson fished the headwaters of the Big Indian last Sunday. The two men returned with limit catches of brook trout measuring over a foot in length.

Elder Dan Newman of the Bible Lodge, out at Misery Bay, caught the new leader of the northern pike class on Friday. A newcomer to the area and one of its most enthusiastic boosters, he used a Daredevil and landed a big fellow weighing 22 pounds, 10 ounces. It was 44 1/2 inches in length and 27 inches in girth.

Notable contest entries of the week include a three pound brook trout caught by Otto Haberman of Gladstone in the Rapid River; Steve Burak's 19 pound, six ounce northern pike from the Misery Bay area; a 3 1/4 pound smallmouth black bass caught by Gordon F. Steidt of Milwaukee at Round Lake; a four pound two ounce rainbow caught in Bursaw creek by Mrs. Mildred Baker of Manistiquette and Jim Houle's two pound, 10 1/2 ounce walleye from the Escanaba river.

Our No. 1 Problem

Intelligent utilization of our natural resources is of the same importance as an army and navy in the future welfare of us all. Our problem is not attempting to establish fish and game by some short-cut method. Rather, it is the preservation and perpetuation of an environment wherein our wildlife will thrive.

Basically, behind all wildlife, or our own existence for that matter, is soil. You can't by-pass that for it is the banquet table of all living organisms. Wildlife is but a by-product of proper land use, as are human beings, national forests and the yarn for the knitting club.

We dig in the sands at the junction of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers to find the remains of the celebrated Hanging Gardens of Babylon—one of the wonders of the ancient world, noted for a lush growth of plant life. The Egyptians dip pitiful buckets of water from the Nile to nurture the scorched sands, where once grew foodstuffs in such abundance that large armies of workmen built the Pyramids. The Roman Empire cracked up because, despite their genius for organization, the Romans failed to evolve a wise land use policy.

Today, our President Truman is in Europe to aid in picking up the pieces after a war in which Hitler and Mussolini attempted mass murder on all their neighbors, just because they needed more of the products of the land. Our largest cities are no more than clearing houses for the distribution of the products of the soil. To push our pet product—wildlife—is noble, but our cause is not one of interest to the sportsman alone. It reaches into every home in America, for the very existence of our people is dependent upon land use. Whether we prosper as a nation, or drop behind into poverty and degeneration is entirely dependent upon the wise use of our natural resources.

In our world wide warring, we have had to go all out. Our resources have been scattered to the seven seas. As an example, we have pumped oil through every conceivable kind of internal combustion engine, in every land. It took millions of years to produce that oil. It has now joined the atmosphere as gases, returned to the earth as carbon, dissolved in the waters of the sea. But it is gone, lost forever to the future prosperity of our country.

An interesting sidelight is the case of Russia. She has retained beneath her soil the greater part of her oil reserves. Her leaders appear to realize that her future in the world picture is dependent upon the natural resources she controls.

Our pioneers left a trail of soil destruction from the Atlantic seaboard where they entered the New World, westward. The old idea was to farm the land for all it contained, skim it to the subsoil, then move on and skim another area. We have crossed the continent now, and there are no more wildernesses left to conquer and destroy. It is time to retrench, improve our battle positions wherever we happen to be dug in, and live or die within these bastions. Thus our future is not more fish and game—it is proper land use—proper water use—maybe even proper use of the air.

Friend Toad

Many of us shy at the sight of a toad and our first impulse is to destroy it. However, experts agree that Victory gardeners should not overlook the importance of toads during the vegetable growing season and should encourage them to stay around. It is estimated that a single toad may be worth several

CHURCH WILL BE DEDICATED

Archbishops To Attend Ceremonies At Kingsford

Iron Mountain, Mich.—Formal dedication, Sunday, Aug. 12, of the new St. Mary, Queen of Peace church, in Kingsford Heights, construction of which is nearing completion, is being planned by the pastor, the Rev. Gerald Harrington, who Tuesday conferred with the Most Rev. Francis J. Magner, bishop, and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph L. Zyrd, chancellor of the diocese, who came here from Marquette with the bishop's brother John L. Magner, Chicago.

Coming here to the dedication, expected to be one of the most impressive ceremonies in Catholic church history, in the Upper Peninsula, will be two archbishops, at least four bishops, some 10 monsignori and some 100 priests from the Marquette and Green Bay dioceses.

Invitations have been accepted by Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch, of the Chicago archdiocese, and Archbishop Moses E. Kiley, Milwaukee archdiocese, who will arrive here Saturday night, Aug. 11. It will be the first time that an archbishop has come to the city.

Among those who also accepted invitations are the Most Rev. William D. O'Brien, auxiliary bishop of Chicago; the Most Rev. Stanislaus Bona, new bishop of the Green Bay diocese, where he succeeded the late Bishop P. Rhode; the Most Rev. Eugene McGuinness, bishop of Oklahoma City, and Bishop Magner. They also are expected here Saturday night, accompanied by their secretaries.

Dinner In Club
The archbishops and bishops will be met at the train and accompanied to the Chippewa club, which will be their headquarters during their brief stay. They will be guests at an 8 o'clock dinner Saturday night, Aug. 11 at the club.

Archbishop Stritch, in addition to his duties in the Chicago archdiocese, is chancellor of the Catholic Church Extension Society of America, the generosity of which made construction of the new church possible. Bishop O'Brien is president of the society.

Most of the visiting monsignori and priests are expected to arrive by car Sunday morning in time for the 10 o'clock pontifical high mass during which the church will be dedicated.

The mass will be sung by a choir of male voices from St. Mary, Queen of Peace, SS. Mary and Joseph, the Church of the Immaculate Conception and Church of the American Martyrs. Arrangements for the music are in charge of the Rev. Wilbur Gibbs, assistant at the Immaculate Conception.

The order of the dedication service and the program for the remainder of the day will be announced later by the Rev. Fr. Harrington, who is being assisted by the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus.

Dedication of the corner stone of the new church, with Bishop Magner in charge, took place on Sunday, Oct. 22. Participating at that time were the monsignori and some 40 priests from U. P. and northern Wisconsin parishes.

GERMFASK MAY BE POW CAMP

Government Officials To Check Up On Late CO Quarters

The former CCC camp at Germfask, used a number of months, up to recently, as a camp for conscientious objectors, may soon become a prisoner of war camp.

A member of the staff at the Seney Wildlife Preserve, in Manistique Saturday, stated that while the new proposal for the use of the camp is unofficial, it may be stated that government officials have inspected the camp in the recent past checking over its possibilities.

Certain types of war prisoners could be used for labor on the refuge, the Seney official said, and the camp could accommodate them very nicely.

Following the outbreak of the war, men who objected to bearing arms for their country were sent to this camp to work on the wildlife refuge, but due to lack of authority given officers to enforce discipline, practically nothing was accomplished. Originally the men sent there were those who objected to entering military service because of religious scruples, but before long it became an asylum for radical elements who were of no religious faith and were particularly adept at creating insubordination and committing acts of petty sabotage.

Following a series of articles published last January in the Escanaba Daily Press, the place was given widespread publicity. Metropolitan newspapers and magazines of national circulation wrote stirring editorials and featured lurid articles about the "rioting and mutiny" going on there. (Which, by the way, never happened.)

The federal government finally took a hand and gave the camp officials a bit more authority. Several C. O.'s were convicted for crimes varying from desertion, misappropriation of government property and fraudulent application for trapping license. Later some of the worst trouble makers were transferred to another camp.

Others were given discharges for disability and a few had a change of heart and accepted induction into the armed service. Early in June the remainder of those left in camp were transferred to California to engage in forestry service work.

No trouble of this sort is anticipated when the prisoners of war are installed in camp. The men will be under strict military supervision and those selected will be recognized for their good behavior and their willingness to work.

Price Ceiling Put On Airplane Tires
Dollar-and-cent ceiling prices have been established for sales by the Department of Commerce's Office of Surplus Property of 10, 857 used airplane tires declared surplus by the Army Air Forces, the Office of Price Administration announced.

Heretofore, tires of this kind have been sold by the Army Air Forces as scrap. However, since they have been found to be suitable for use on various farm vehicles, the Army Air Forces has declared them surplus and turned them over to the Department of Commerce for disposal in civilian channels.

The ceilings, range from $1.09 each for small-size tires to $25.10 each for the largest airplane tires used, those on the big B-29 super-forts.

The tires being sold by the Department of Commerce's Office of Surplus Property are located at Army depots in Mogadore, Ohio, and Ontario, California.

Sulfur-Containing Compounds Check Decay In Oranges
Washington—Oranges may be prevented from decaying, with consequent large savings both nutritional and financial, by means of several sulfur-containing organic compounds investigated by Dr. J. F. L. Childs and Dr. E. A. Siegler, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Results of their researches, which were conducted at the federal experiment station at Orlando, Florida, are announced in the forthcoming issue of Science.

Most of the storage and market spoilage of oranges is traceable to two kinds of fungi that cause stem rot and two others that are known respectively as blue and green molds. Damage by all four of these fungi was cut down very materially by three compounds, all characterized by the presence of sulfur in combination with nitrogen—containing atomic structures known as amino groups.

GLAD HAND FOR TOURISTS
Editor, Escanaba Press, Escanaba, Michigan
Dear Sir:

For the past two weeks Manistique has had an influx of tourists equal to or greater than anything seen in these parts since 1939. It seems everyone with a vacation coming has either chosen the Manistique area or has decided to stop here and shop for groceries, gasoline, tires and outdoor clothing, with the result the residents who stay here twelve months of the year are suffering considerable hardship, particularly, with reference to food. This brings up the question, who is to blame for said shortages?

On June 21st the OPA increased the gasoline quota on A stamps to six gallons, thus encouraging the tired, war weary factory workers from down below to enjoy a furlough in the north woods. The government deliberately encouraged folks to use their cars and NOT TO USE public transportation, with the result, the large families are busied once more in God's country, Hiawathaland, and the old family buggy brought most of them here. Sure, they should have stayed home, but the war workers, like the soldiers, feel they, too, are entitled to a furlough, and that's what this great army of tourists is comprised of, for the most part.

The question now arises, what are we to do about it? The answer is simple, share our food and extend a glad hand to each and every one of these visitors. They are not getting any thrill out of standing in line to buy meat and then be told it is all gone. Our own folks who go to Detroit or Chicago expect to be treated likewise and if there is anyone to blame it is the government agencies who cannot see far enough ahead to estimate the amount of food required in the vacation areas.

When the guests eat food in Northern Michigan they are NOT EATING IT in Southern Michigan or Illinois or Wisconsin. Manistique has been behind the 8-ball for weeks and weeks, in fact long before the tourists started this way, and there is something radically wrong with the distribution of meat, potatoes, eggs and fats when Escanaba, Marquette and other cities advertise meats in their local newspapers, while residents of Manistique stand in line for hours only to be told the cold cuts are now all sold out.

The Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce has taken the matter up with Senators Vandenberg and Ferguson, also with Congressman Fred Bradley with the result an investigation is now under way. It takes time for the bureaucrats to "investigate" and perhaps by next Christmas we will have more meat, but the fact remains, someone in authority SOMEWHERE is responsible for the meat, potato, egg and fats shortage in Manistique and one of these days something will "pop."

Meanwhile, don't forget to say "hello" to the countless visitors who are among us and let's show them we are hospitable to the ninth degree. Another year will soon come around and friends made now will not forget our grand vacationland.

Manistique-Schoolcraft Chamber of Commerce
Fred D. Heltman, President.

SHEAHAN NOTE BACKED BY GOV.

Governor Kelly Approves Of Local Mans Defense Of Parole Board

Much favorable comment in the daily press of the state has been given William J. Sheahan, Schoolcraft county prosecuting attorney and also president of the Prosecuting Attorneys' Association of the state for his recent defense of the state parole board and its policies against a barrage of abuse turned against the board because it refused to grant paroles to certain men serving time in the Jackson state penitentiary.

Because of the criticism of the board, Governor Kelly solicited opinions of judges and prosecuting attorneys of the state concerning the members of the board and their action. Mr. Sheahan promptly contacted every prosecuting attorney in the state and found an overwhelming majority of them strong in their support of the board. Reporting back to Governor Kelly, Mr. Sheahan said, "The department of corrections, the director and parole board are eminently fair, well qualified and are functioning in a most satisfactory manner."

The governor's conclusion has been that both prosecutors and judges "pay tribute to the work and integrity of the present board."

Members of the board, Mr. Sheahan explains, are appointed by the governor and operates under a planned system that enables the members to review the case of each applicant for parole or pardon from every angle. If there should be any weakness in the system, Mr. Sheahan states, the results would favor the prisoner rather than the state.

Mr. Sheahan states that he, not long ago, attended a meeting of the parole board at Marquette and was asked to sit in and unofficially sum up his conclusions on a long series of cases, to see how they would jibe with those of the board. He states that in every instance they coincided.

He states that the position of the Detroit recorders' judge and the group of anonymous accusers of the board, was untenable.

Off The Chest ...

BY JAY ARRELL

Mrs. Stanley Anderson, "Hazel" to the hundreds of people who patronize LaFolle's place on Cedar street, where she has presided as major or domo for years, is in a position to know, if anyone is, what happens to the public's preference or yen in the matter of ice creams, cokes, malteds and the like. Her observations and deductions are therefore worth noting.

She states that never in her experience has she ever seen such a demand for ice cream and dishes and drinks that have ice cream as a base. Its a common, everyday occurrence, she says, for customers to order one rich malted milk after another. It isn't just because the goodness of these concoctions has just been called to the customer's attention, she says. They just seem to be hungry for something that is lacking in the foods one gets nowadays.

August Olson, of North Cedar street, came to the Press office the other day to ask "Do you want to buy a good bike?" There was a twinkle in his eyes when he said it so we knew he wasn't seriously trying to press a sale of the bicycle that brought him to our door. We are sure that there are many things close to his heart that he would rather part with than that bit of mechanism. So we said, "Know anyone who has a good bike to sell?" Evasively, he answered, "This is a pretty good bike. I bought it on September 11, 1899 and I've been riding it ever since. The only thing that's changed is the tires and a couple of coats of paint I've given it."

Another advantage of this area that is too often taken for granted, is the roadside table placed every few miles along main traveled highways. We don't know why this splendid accommodation to the public is not copied by other states, but it simply isn't. Yes, we know that most any community of any consequence has some sort of a park equipped with picnic tables where folks may sit in the shade and eat under God's blue canopy. But we have observed in a number of states which boast of their outdoor advantages, that no innovation of this sort is provided by the state highway department.

And what is more, we know of no other state where tables of sturdy construction, made clean and attractive by applications of varnish are placed at the disposal of the public. We have had some rather unpleasant experiences resulting from over-weathered seats breaking down and tables tipping over when some hefty member of the picnic party sat down. For that reason we note and appreciate the difference.

We have only one criticism to make. There aren't enough tables. It was our experience a few days ago to have to visit seven places where we knew there were roadside tables before we found one that wasn't occupied. And as the summer advances, we are sure that we'll have to do more rambling about that than when we insist on a picnic.

A visitor to these parts was taken to the Big Spring the other day, and taken for a ride on the raft. Her observations are well worth noting, because only a few weeks before that she had been to California and had made a trip to Catalina Island, in one of those world-famed glass bottomed boats. She said that what she saw while crossing the Big Spring was far more beautiful and more interesting than what she had paid good money to see in California.

LOCALS PLAY AT STEPHENSON

Nahma At Gladstone On Other Teen League Game Today

The Escanaba Teensters baseball team will travel to Stephenson today to open the second half of the Teen league season, while Gladstone plays host to Nahma in the other league game.

Escanaba went through the first half of the schedule undefeated, defeating Stephenson, Gladstone and Nahma each twice, but new standings will be used for the second half of the season and all clubs will go into the new schedule on an even basis.

Stephenson showed marked improvement last week in scoring its first victory of the season and upsetting Gladstone at Stephenson. Coach Brunelle's team is out to prove that their victory last week was no fluke by adding the Escanaba team to its list of victims.

Don Scott will probably take the hill for the Escanaba team today at Stephenson. Kuchenberg will receive.

At Gladstone, Haglund or Schness will pitch for the Gladstone entry against Nahma and Slye will do the receiving.

The water allowance in U. S. Army camps is 100 gallons per capita daily.

Calms Prevent Yachts From Making Escanaba

The race from Menominee to Escanaba for the C. W. Stoll trophy started at 9 o'clock Saturday morning but due to calms and very light winds the boats were unable to reach here by last night. At 7:15 p. m. the Gray Ghost of Green Bay arrived at the Escanaba yacht harbor under power and reported the rest of the boats still becalmed somewhere off Cedar River. Shortly after their arrival the Halcyon of Menominee also powered in but until late last night the rest of the fleet had not been sighted. At that time the bay was still flat and there was little prospect of the boats being in before morning.

Crew members of Benoit Wittig's Gray Ghost are James Hopkins, Bill Nelson, Peter Falk, Gilbert Anderson, Dan Nelson and Harold Byrnes. Aboard the Halcyon were Mr. and Mrs. Eric Jones and their sons, Dave and Mike.

Boats which are expected are Dan Coffey's Helen B. Art Hanson's Leki, Dr. Boren's Ji-Bu-Ji, Dr. Jorgenson's Juanita, Grant Ihler's Saaga, Roger Williams' Rinette, and Frank Dory's Hope, all from Menominee and Marinette. From Green Bay are Clayton Ewing's Ben Bow and George Burridge's Jeodare. From Sturgeon Bay are Leathem Smith's Half Moon and the Sea Queen.

This afternoon many of these along with the local boats will participate in a race for the EYC trophy. The race will start at 2 o'clock off the city municipal dock and will be sailed off the north shore.

The third Seagull elimination race will be started off the city municipal dock at 1:30. This race will break the tie which now exists between Paul Menard's Suds and John Jacob's Ah-Mie, each boat having a total of seven and a half points. Yuhudi, owned by Cliff Weir and Dan Raess is third with four points and Harold Olsen's Carefree is fourth with two points. Points for the elimination races are awarded as follows: one-half point for first place and one point for each boat they beat.

Monday morning at 9 o'clock marks the start of the ninth annual Escanaba Yacht Club cruising race. The race will start off the yacht harbor entrance. The first leg of the race will be from here to Ephraim. On Tuesday the boats will sail in the Ephraim regatta, after which the fleet will move to Fish Creek. Wednesday will start the second leg of the cruising race from Fish Creek to Sturgeon Bay. Thursday the third and final leg of the race will be sailed from Sturgeon Bay to Menominee. The fleet will lay over in Menominee on Friday and sail the M & M 100-mile race which starts Saturday morning. The local boats will return to Escanaba on Sunday.

OFF FOR MACKINAC

Chicago, July 21 (AP)—A light, southeast breeze, which shifted to the southwest, gave 37 entrants a fast start today in the Chicago

Yacht Club's annual race up Lake Michigan to Mackinac Island, 333 miles north-northeast.

Tonight the entire fleet, which includes craft from Chicago, Detroit, Michigan City, Ind., Grand Rapids, Mich., and Sheboygan, Wis., was far to the north, with its first landfall to be Little Sable Point, Mich. Skippers of the entrants—which include all last year's winners in this longest of all freshwater yacht races—expected to sight Little Sable Point Sunday.

Hope, a 50-foot Q class sloop owned by J. S. Stein of Chicago, and winner in the universal division of the race in 1936 and 1938, was first across the starting line this afternoon.

Winners in the six divisions—Class A, B, C and D universal, and Class A, B, C and D cruising—are expected to reach Mackinac Island Monday or early Tuesday.

GAME HALTED BY DARKNESS

Last 17 Innings Played Without Score; League Record Tied

Philadelphia, July 21 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics and the Detroit Tigers tied a 39-year-old American League endurance record as they battled almost five hours through 24 innings without any decision reached.

Umpire Bill Sommers called the game at the end of the 24th inning with the score tied 1-1. The Athletics and the Boston Red Sox in 1906 played 24 innings to set an American League record which has never been equalled or broken until today.

It was the longest major league game of this season and came within two innings of tying the all-time major league mark of 26 innings, set in 1920 by Brooklyn and Boston of the senior loop.

Mueller Long-winded Detroit's Les Mueller, a right hander with a fast ball who was recently discharged from the army, outlasted three other pitchers used in the game. He pitched 19 and two-thirds innings and was relieved by Paul (Dizzy) Trout after he had walked two men.

Russ Christopher, seeking his 12th victory, hurled 13 innings for the A's and was followed by Jittery Joe Berry.

Umpire Sommers called the game on account of darkness. The game set a new American League mark for time—four hours and 48 minutes—breaking by one minute the record set by the A's and the Boston Red Sox in their 24-inning contest on September 1, 1906.

In the 1906 game Boston's Joe Harris opposed the A's Jack Combs over the 24-inning route with the Athletics winning 4-1.

Tied In Seventh Today's game was the second overtime contest played by the Athletics within four days. On Wednesday night, the Athletics and Cleveland Indians played a 2-2 game that was called in the 13th inning on account of rain.

The Athletics grabbed a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning. Dick Seibert reached first base on Rudy York's error, went to third on Bobby Estelle's double and scored on Buddy Rosar's single.

The Tigers tied it up in the seventh inning. Roy Cullenbine walked, went to third on Rudy York's single and scored as Doc Cramer rolled out.

In the 10th inning, an Athletics' threat was nipped by Jimmy Outlaw who threw out Hal Peck at home plate as he was trying to score from second on Estelle's single.

Berry pitched himself out of two bad holes in the 22nd and 24th innings. The Tigers filled the bases in both frames and twice Bobby Maier failed to provide the punch needed for victory. In the 22nd Maier flied out and in the 24th he hit into a double play.

Fans Stick It Out

Mueller was given a rousing round of applause when he retired in favor of Trout with two men out in the 19th inning. Mueller showed signs of weakening when Manager Steve O'Neill sent Trout to the mound. During his term on the mound Mueller allowed 13 hits and the Athletics' one run.

Christopher faded in the 13th inning after giving up six hits and one run. Berry hurled shutout ball for 11 innings and allowed six hits.

The 4,325 fans enjoyed three seventh-inning stretches during the game and virtually everyone stayed until the umpire called a

The on again-off again 1945 World Series is "on again" because the U. S. Navy scored a one-two punch through Secretary Forrestal and Admiral Nimitz, who requested that the World Series winner be sent on a 90 day tour of the Pacific to play Army and Navy teams at advance bases. Now it's quite obvious that in order to have a World Series winner, there must be a World Series and since the Navy's request constitutes virtually a command performance, there can no longer be any doubt that the big show will be held as usual this fall, despite the ODT's gloomy forecasts of several weeks ago.

In making their requests for the World Series winner to tour the Pacific, Secretary Forrestal and Admiral Nimitz stole a march on the War Department bigwigs in the European Theater of Operations who had been talking, but not acting, about the prospects for playing the World Series in Nuremberg stadium in Germany for the benefit of the GI's there. Now that the bars are down for the 1945 Big Show, it is possible that arrangements can be made to send an All Star major league lineup to Europe while the World Series winner tours the Pacific war zone.

The decision to hold the World Series as usual, when and if it is announced, will be welcomed by American sports fans. It has always seemed incongruous to permit major league ball teams to play a full schedule of 154 games and then when league champions are established, to deny the champions the right to play the World Series of seven games or less. All Stars Win, 10-7, In Dedication Of Lighted Softball Diamond Here

The National League All Stars defeated Dagenais Grocers, 10 to 7, in the dedication game under the lights of the new softball diamond Saturday night before a crowd of several thousand fans who filled the bleachers and parked in cars several deep around the field.

The dedication game was interesting and held the close attention of the crowd throughout, despite a variety of fielding lapses and wild throws.

Windy Winchester, veteran pitcher of the Silver Fronts, hurled five innings for the Nationals, allowing only one run and two hits. The Dagenais used three pitchers, each going three innings in the nine inning game. Doucette allowed one run and one hit in three frames, Weber three runs and three hits, and Elgreet six runs and four hits.

The game blew up in the eighth inning with the score tied 4-4. Elgreet, who fanned three men consecutively in the seventh inning, got LaCrosse on an easy roller to open the eighth and fanned DeLoria but two walks, coupled with errors, started the trouble and before the side was retired the Nationals had four tallies across the plate. Dagenais got three of them back in their half of the inning but the All Stars put the game away with two more tallies in the ninth.

Co-Managers Toodles Flath and Earl Haddy reported after the game that they regretted that all of the men selected for the All Star squad were unable to get into the battle, but that a majority of the squad agreed to leave the lineup intact in the interests of victory.

Before the game Denis McGinn, father of softball in Escanaba who organized the first league in 1929, gave the dedication address, congratulating the Escanaba Softball association in its accomplishments and reviewing briefly the development of the game in Escanaba.

Commissioner Fred Klaus, of Menominee, also attended the game and was presented on the program. Commissioner Klaus reported that plans for the U. P. tournament at Menominee are progressing nicely and that the tournament is shaping up as the finest in years.

Other speakers were Paul Vardigan, president of the Escanaba Softball association; Cliff Beaudin, Sr., chairman of the Board of Control; Fritz LaChapelle, former president and a member of the board; Ray Johnson, manager of Dagenais, Toodles Flath and Earl Haddy, co-managers of the All Stars; and Pfc. Cliff Beaudin, Jr., Ken Gunderman, Daily Press sports editor, was master of ceremonies.

But to get back to the lighted field. The fans loved it and agreed that it will provide a great boost to softball in the community. The lighting was fine, although some additional adjustments still are required for greatest efficiency.

The game was over shortly before 11 o'clock and none too soon. A curtain of fog that began to creep into the outfield in the eighth inning blanketed the field shortly after the final man was retired in the ninth.

The short summary:

Dagenais ... 001 000 330—7 8

Communication

NOT REPRESENTATIVE
To the Sports Editor,
Escanaba Daily Press

Every year as we go along in picking our All-Star teams, there are lots of players left out. Why is that teams must be picked through friendship and favoritism? Why were all the other teams left out in the American league? The White Birch shouldn't be left out and that goes for the other teams, too.

I think one or two players should be picked from each team and that way everyone is given a square deal. When I made the All-Stars back in 1937 when the National league played the American league, it was done right. The score of that game was Nationals 12, Americans 8. That was the only decent team picked and now friendship is spoiling our fun.

It has always seemed incongruous to permit major league ball teams to play a full schedule of 154 games and then when league champions are established, to deny the champions the right to play the World Series of seven games or less. It is true that transportation conditions are strained but attendance restrictions can be placed on the World Series games to discourage attendance of any substantial numbers of fans from outside the host cities. After all, for every fan who is able to watch the World Series games at the ball park, there are literally thousands who will follow the games by radio and newspaper accounts.

Present indications are that the National League championships will be a western club, either the Chicago Cubs or the St. Louis Cardinals. The Detroit Tigers are the current favorites to cop the American league flag. If the World Series is an all-western affair, as now seems probable, the transportation menace will be greatly reduced, as travel from Detroit to Chicago, or Detroit to St. Louis will not be too much of a problem to overcome satisfactorily. The Tigers, of course, are not exactly a cinch for the pennant, and if they should lose it, an eastern club, perhaps the Yankees would probably be the winner.

Hit and Miss—A ban on the signing of schoolboys under the age of 18 is proposed by Commissioner Chandler as a postwar measure, but not now due to the manpower shortage. Some of the clubs, particularly the St. Louis Cardinals don't like it. Larry MacPhail has emphatically denied that Bing Crosby has any financial interest in the New York Yankees. Boston fans are already speculating on the possibility of Dave Ferriss being the first major league pitcher to win 30 games since Dizzy Dean turned the trick in 1934.

IDEAS WANTED BY PLANNERS

U.P. Advisory Committee
Meets In Houghton
July 28

Invitation to public officials, organizations and individuals in the Upper Peninsula to submit their ideas on solution of the post war problems of their district has been extended by Dr. Grover C. Dillman, chairman of the Upper Peninsula Advisory Committee of the Michigan Planning Commission.

Dr. Dillman's committee will meet in Houghton on Saturday, July 28 to receive reports of its eight subcommittees and prepare a list of the 10 most important problems facing the Upper Peninsula together with recommendations for dealing with them. The subcommittee reports and the committee's findings on Upper Peninsula problems will be presented to Governor Harry F. Kelly and his Michigan Planning Commission in Marquette Aug. 21.

Suggestions should be sent to Dr. Dillman at the Michigan College of Mining and Technology, Houghton, or given to any member of his committee.

The varied problems of the Upper Peninsula have been studied by sub-groups composed of men interested in such individual phases as mining, agriculture, commercial fishing, dairying, and the tourist industry.

"These sub-committees, comprising in every case men connected with the industry assigned to them for study and who have their finger on the pulse of that industry, are bringing out a good many questions and tackling them with good results," Dr. Dillman said. "However, we are interested in further obtaining the suggestions of those whom we have not been able to contact thus far."

Briefly Told

At Highland Club—The Escanaba Lions club will hold its weekly luncheon Monday evening at the Highland Golf club. The program will include a golf match between the Escanaba and Bark River Lions.

Another Big One—Elder Daniel Newman, of Bible lodge, entered another whopping northern pike in the Daily Press fishing contest yesterday. The fish weighed 22lbs 10 ounces and measured 44 1/2 inches in length when weighed yesterday afternoon, but tipped the beams at approximately 24 pounds when caught Friday night at Misery Bay. It is entered in the Press contest at its weight as of yesterday afternoon.

Apply For License—Application for a marriage license has been made at the office of County Clerk J. Theodore Ohlen by Donald J. Matthews of Wisconsin Rapids, Wis., and Loretta Lutz of Escanaba.

Birthday Anniversary—Edward W. Cody, Sr., 1411 First avenue north, is celebrating his 64th birthday anniversary today.

Occupant Injured—Miss Margaret Strand of 204 South Eighth street suffered minor injuries Friday evening when the car in which she was riding was involved in a collision with another car at Eighth and Stephen avenues. Miss Strand was an occupant of a car driven by John Markolie of Rock, and the other car was driven by Victor Peterson of 1118 Washington avenue.

Rotary Program—Atty. Robert Deo, general counsel for National Automobile Dealers association, Washington, D. C., and former Escanaba resident, will speak to the Rotary club at its Monday noon luncheon meeting at the Delta hotel.

Kin of Repatriates Advised Not To Go To Meet Gripsholm

Relatives of 1,500 repatriates scheduled to reach the United States about July 31 aboard the former Swedish luxury liner Gripsholm were asked yesterday by G. Z. Flanders, home service chairman of the Delta county Red Cross Chapter, not to attempt traveling to New York to meet returnees. Flanders explained, will not be allowed on the pier when the Gripsholm docks at Jersey City, N. J. In addition he said, congested travel conditions and an acute shortage of hotel space in New York make such trips not only unnecessary but uncomfortable.

Messages and money for repatriates will be delivered, however, by the American Red Cross on the Gripsholm pier as soon as returnees have cleared customs, according to Flanders. Checks or money orders are acceptable when made payable to the returning civilian. Messages should be addressed as follows:

Name of repatriate, Gripsholm Repatriate, c/o Home Service, New York Chapter, American Red Cross, 315 Lexington Avenue, New York 16, N. Y.

The Delta County Red Cross Chapter will not be notified by national headquarters of the American Red Cross Home Service of individuals on board the liner. The Department of State also has announced that next of kin of approximately 1,132 who got on board at Bombay will not be notified. Time permitting, next of kin of almost 400 repatriates who have boarded the boat at Piraeus, Greece, will be informed.

BLOOD ARTILLERY

Blood plasma has been delivered to American soldiers throughout the world via all sorts of vehicles and methods. The strangest one, however, is that which was recently revealed—the firing of blood plasma contained in artillery shells to Allied troops cut off by Nazis in the European theater of war.
